Three-Gored Walking Skirt—A General Favorite—Waist With Box Plaited Effect—Recipe for Casserole of Lamb and Rice.

Shown shows the new radium satin muslin—a white shot with faint yellow, pale pink and hint of mauve in different lights—combined with a heavy mesh pointe Arabe in the new yellowish that which blends so softly with white. The corsage, which fastens in the back, is of the same satin, an overall yoke of the lace with the black lace furnishing the very full full skirt, which is met at the elbow by a lace cuff. The present fancy for panel effects is seen in the front design of lace, where the panel is split into the tiny yoke of lace. The skirt over the hips is finished with dart-shaped tucks, and the bouffant at the foot is cleverly maintained with a group of flange and silk ruffles sewed inside the skirt at the foot.

Doudoir Confidences

Prize remains. Panel effects are noted. Fullness figure on sheer frocks. Whole lace dresses are in high favor. Pastilles of velvet are by no means "out." Lace coats are lovely in cream color. Embroidery of all rich sorts is in vogue. Boleros and cloaks are too becoming to part with. Draped girdles, trim and snug, are as good as ever. Dotted sweaters are stand-bys for summer dresses. Shiver while India linen is both pretty and useful. Cascade bunches of small flowers are lovely on hats. Grass-green tulle and bluffs were seen on a hat recently. Linen in the natural color is to be in as high favor as ever. Shawl-like shoulder wraps are among the graceful features.

Girlish Garments Are Worn.

All women want to look younger this year, and here are a few little tricks of fashion which add to one's youthful appearance. If you want to look girlish around the belt you must put on one of the girlish of crushed or satin. Let the girlish for afternoon or evening be of pink. Let it be very wide and very soft. Do not furnish it with such ends, but let it be completed with two roses at the back. Should be of medium size and should be put on two inches apart to make the waist look small and trim. If far apart these roses have a tendency to make the belt look too wide.

To Remove Rust Stains.

Cover the stain with paper and place a warm iron on this. When the spot is warm dip a glass rod in a bottle of muriatic acid and go over the rust spot with it, rubbing every corner of the stain. The spot will turn a bright yellow. Instantly wash it with an old toothbrush dipped in boiling water, rub dry with woolen cloth. Before beginning the work have all the appliances ready. Then work rapidly from center to outside. Muriatic acid corrodes metals, therefore have the bottle corked tight when using it. Two or three ounces of the acid will be ample.

Blouse or Shirt Waist.

Box plaited effects are exceedingly fashionable and a combination of those of full length with shorter waist is sure to make a satisfactory result. The full length plait gives the long lines that always are desirable while the shorter tucks provide the contrasting lines. This very excellent model is adapted to a wide range of materials but is shown in white mercerized cotton and cuffs being of the material finished with fancy stitches. The back as illustrated is bloused slightly over the belt but can be drawn down snugly whenever preferred.

FOR WEE TOTS.

Silken Gown Supreme.

The silken gown reigns supreme for almost all occasions; but for the formal gown for visiting, dinner and reception purposes—there is absolutely nothing which can take its place. And the way in which the gown is made of bold and well-raised designs, used to supplement the richness of the silk, is not by any means the least of their attractions. A recent

VON PLEHVE A REACTIONIST

Official Life of Assassinated Russian Statesman Passed in Opposition to Reform

Senator von Plehve, who was assassinated at St. Petersburg, July 28, was appointed Russian minister of the interior April 15, 1902, succeeding M. Siplaginski, who was assassinated April 16, 1902, by a student named Balmorshoff. He had formerly been director of the department of police, which position he practically assumed of his own accord, when in charge of the department of political prosecutions, owing to the incompetency of the official who was in charge of the police when Emperor Alexander II. was killed, March 13, 1881.

M. Plehve conducted the prosecution of the republics and afterward was in the government were in favor of exterminating the Jews in Russia or at least of driving them out of the country. It was asserted that the killing was done under cover of the troops and the police. The governor at Kishinev did not leave his house for two days and no communication could be had with St. Petersburg.

Subsequent investigation showed that there was some foundation for these charges. A correspondent of the Chicago Daily News at Odessa, cabled that Von Plehve ordered the troops at Kishinev not to stop the killing and recommended them for the killing intervention on behalf of the Jews.

The last great public work of Von Plehve, so far as known, was the drafting of the peasant code early this year. This is a scheme for peasant reform, ordered by the emperor in his recent manifesto. By this scheme members of the nobility in each province and district will be allowed to elect representatives in local committees, to be established throughreprimanded M. Stakhovich, marshal of the nobility of Orel, for his activity in a movement to secure the provinces in a movement of the provincial delegates to a certain agricultural inquiry begun by the government. These and many similar acts made him more unpopular than his predecessor ever had been.

M. Plehve was not a man of learning, but from his youth he had been brought up in official circles and he slowly and surely pushed himself ahead. Before the emperor called him to take the portfolio of the interior department he had already passed about forty years in official work and at the time of his death he was about 66 years old. The educated young men of Russia are said to have been bitterly opposed to M. Plehve, owing to his own people and to the drastic changes which he inaugurated or advocated. He is said to have regarded the common people as either dangerous criminals to be repressed or as innocents to be ignored.

Plehve was largely of Finnish blood. It is alleged, no man in Russia has so glorified himself for severity against the Finns as M. Plehve. In May, 1903, M. Plehve was appointed president of the imperial commission appointed to carry out the emperor's reform decree.

What part, if any, M. Plehve actually played in the Kishinev massacre will probably never be known, but his enemies have asserted that he actually planned the massacre through his political friend and agent, Kroushchew, known as the most extreme anti-Semitic in Russia and promoter of the massacre.

At the time of the massacre in April and May last year it was openly stated that Von Plehve and his associates in the government were in favor of exterminating the Jews in Russia or at least of driving them out of the country. It was asserted that the killing was done under cover of the troops and the police. WINTER WHEAT AND RYE ARE IN Yield is Satisfactory, Though Former is Below Average Quality.

Winter wheat and rye. The work was favorable for harvesting and these crops are now practically secured, says W. M. Wilson, section director. The yield is generally considered satisfactory, although in a few localities wheat is reported below average in quality.

Spring grains—spring wheat and rye—are excellent crops and maturing rapidly. Barley in the southern counties is fully ripe and some has been cut. In the central and northern sections it will be ready for harvest in a few days. The crop is considered excellent, both as to quality and yield. The straw is generally somewhat short, and although the heads are short, they have been little lodging. Oats are beginning to ripen and the crop is satisfactory.

Corn.—The cool weather has checked the growth of corn and the crop is still ten days or two weeks behind the average condition at this date. The plants are generally strong and healthy and with higher temperatures, head and grain at night, a fair crop may be expected.

Other crops.—Tobacco plants are small for the season, but vigorous and healthy. Potatoes have made good progress during the week. Potatoes are reported as coming in a few localities. Haymaking has progressed rapidly this week and a large amount has been secured in excellent condition. The crop is considerably heavier than was anticipated early in the season. Pastures are fair, but not rapidly. Sugar beets are making the quality excellent. Beans for canning purposes are mostly matured, and about half the crop has been gathered. The crop is large and of excellent quality. Gardens are in a satisfactory condition. Apples are generally considered a good crop. Blackberries are ripening, but the crop is not large.

Whereas we are drifting.

"The above question has been asked many and many times, still it is a pertinent one and will have reputation and thoughtful consideration. Therefore it is relevant and admissible in the case at hand. While I write these few lines before the day's program, and the auspicious of the ladies' society, purporting to be of an evangelistic character, expressly for the purpose of assisting the evangelist financially. While it is true Christ said: 'Go and preach the gospel unto all men' everywhere; take neither scrip nor purse; the laborer is worthy of his hire, etc.," does that imply the necessity of ball games, foot racing, egg race, horse racing, social dances, and the employment of military bands in order to sustain the preaching of gospel truth? No, verily! Blessed are those servants whom the Lord when he cometh shall find watching. (Luke 12:37). Watching what? Surely not horse racing, not games of chance, not dancing, not other worldly festivities. Watch, lest ye enter not into temptation, watch, therefore, for ye know not the day nor the hour when the Son of man cometh (Matthew 25:13). Hide not your talent in the earth, nor cover it with earthly things lest it be said: 'Oh thou wicked and slothful servant.' True, it is well for people to dwell together with love and good will towards one another, but does that imply affiliation with all those pastimes and the dedication of dance halls to christian purposes in order to sustain the gospel ministry. Consider the whittier we are drifting. Pause and search well the scriptures, for in them you think you have eternal life. Awake then ye ministers of the gospel. Shake the dust from off thy feet, fold thine little flock with christlike simplicity, and say, we will serve two masters no more. Now let a good work begin.
